A. The Dos and Don'ts of Campaigning

- a. Refer to the “Prohibited Areas and Activities poster” that should be posted in your polling location. This provides information about the activities that various individuals may not do in or near areas where voting is taking place.¹
- b. Campaign within a building containing a polling location only if the local Electoral Board allows such activity. However, campaigning may not take place in the forty foot “prohibited area” under any circumstances.²
- c. Be present outside of the “prohibited area” despite the number of other campaigners present. The Va. Code does not limit the number of campaigners allowed outside of the “prohibited area.”

However, the campaigner must remove or cover any campaign hats, buttons, stickers, and/or t-shirts of a partisan nature while using the bathroom. The campaigner must then promptly exit the polling place and prohibited area after bathroom use.⁵

ii. Campaigners DON'T have authority to do the following

- b. Carry a firearm within one hundred feet of any buildings where the local Electoral Board is meeting, where voting is taking place, the central absentee precinct, or the State Board Meeting to certify the election results.⁶ This restriction also applies to any building used to conduct a recount.
- c. Hinder or delay any person from either entering or leaving a polling place.⁷
- d. Hinder or delay a qualified voter from casting their secret ballot.
